

Question: Where is the aluminum coming from?

Answer: The sky. But that's not what the petition is about. The petition simply asks to test for aluminum, just as any doctor would send a sick patient for a blood test before making a diagnosis.

We think the aluminum comes in with the fog, settles on the pine needles, then the water portion evaporates leaving the contaminants more concentrated. After several cycles, contaminants become very concentrated.